THE RAMBLER

By J. H. H.

Saw three automobiles with tourists coming in on Tenth street the other day. The first one was built and looked like a small Pullman car. Expensive rugs were on the floor. It had folding beds and a neat table with white linen and all the conveniences that could be crowded in. The car was neatly painted and bore the name "Ohio" on the sides. That was luxurious traveling. Then came another car with all the belongings of the family strapped on behind. A man, his wife and several children occupied the seats. They looked tired and fagged. The car was of the vintage of 1920, but it was on its way to somewhere. It bore a Texas license plate. Then came two young ladies in another car of a better make. It had an Oklahoma license plate. They had driven all the way from Oklahoma, braving the desert sands and the weather. But now they are all in God's country. And happy. Perhaps. Heard a man say he has been looking for a young man to work around a garage during vacation, and has not been able to find one. He thinks that most of them are looking for white collar jobs. In order to show the members of the Izaak Walton League that he is a real fisherman, Dave Vashinder took a trip to Big Bear Lake and brought home the fish. He had three large Rainbow trout on display in Roy Creighton's window. The largest one weighed 4 1/2 pounds.

HOLD SIX LADS IN STUDY OF THEFTS

Juvenile Court To Get Cases of Cucamonga Youths

Six Mexican boys, ranging in age from 14 to 16 years, who were arrested a short time ago by Officer J. A. Larson of Cucamonga, as being members of a gang which committed a series of burglaries in the Cucamonga district, will be tried in the juvenile court at San Bernardino Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

The boys are accused of breaking into the R. N. Heath home on Haven avenue and after ransacking the house, stole some canned goods. On another occasion a .45 automatic revolver was stolen at the Heath home.

They are also held for theft of some tools from the South Cucamonga school. The tools were owned by the Chaffey Vocational school.

Officer Larson caught one of the lads trying to fish the tools from a well near the school building. The boys had lowered the tools into the well to conceal them.

Five of the boys, all 15 or under have been held in the detention home, while the sixth, Mantia Sanchez, 16, has been held in the county jail.

POCHIN SPEAKS BEFORE LIONS

A. L. Pochin, former member of the Chaffey High School faculty, was the speaker yesterday noon before members of the Upland Lions Service Club when they held their regular noon day luncheon at The Sycamores Hotel. Mr. Pochin took for his subject "The Earth", and told of its relation to the other planets. While the speaker told many interesting facts about this old earth of ours he seemingly emphasized the earth's soil, which he stated had only an average thickness of a few feet and yet as he said so many thousands of lives were dependent for their sustenance upon this same thin crust of soil. Mr. Pochin has also studied astronomy, and he gave many interesting glimpses of the stars according to their groupings and prominence.

During the business session which preceded Mr. Pochin's talk the secretary read several cards from members of the local Den, who are spending vacations in various parts of the United States. It would almost seem from the diversity of post marks on the

LOUIS KRONMEYER IS APPOINTED TO COUNTY TRAFFIC SQUAD

Carman Lehman To Take Place Of Kronmeyer On City Force—James L. Loch To Take Lehman's Place On Night Shift

Louis Kronmeyer, who has been a traffic officer in the city of Upland for the past six years, was appointed a County traffic officer by the Board of Supervisors. Kronmeyer has become popular as an officer, and many speeders who have appeared in the local court, have commented on the courtesy shown them. He has received dozens of letters, wishing him luck and praising him for the pleasant manner in which he performed an unpleasant duty. He was one of four new traffic officers appointed by the supervisors. Their salaries are $250 a month, but out of this they must furnish their own equipment.

Kronmeyer will start patrolling the County highways July 1. He will be stationed in the West End and continue to make his home in Upland.

Carman Lehman, who has been on the night force, is slated to take Louis Kronmeyer's place as traffic officer in the city. He is now taking his vacation in Kansas, but expects to go on duty July 15. He has been on the police force about three years, and during that time has been on the night shift.

After July 1, James L. Loch will take the place on the night force now held by Carman Lehman. Loch is a young man, a former Chaffey High school and Junior College student. He lives with his mother on a ranch at Fifteenth street and Mountain avenue. His father, James Loch, was found dead on Mountain avenue nearly a year ago. It is supposed that he was struck by an automobile while he was walking on the road. The driver of the machine was never found. Loch was chosen from a large number of applications which were filed with Chief of Police Jedd Sawyer.

FUMIGATING BEGINS AUG. 15

Fred Anderson, County Inspector in the Upland district, reports scale conditions better than for several years. Fumigating in the West End will not begin until the 15th of August. Owing to weather conditions oranges have not made much growth, but if warm weather continues, fruit will grow rapidly. Oranges are about one month behind last year's growth at this time.

Owing to the small sizes of oranges fumigating has been postponed until the middle of August. Most of the fumigating will be in groves that were not fumigated or sprayed last year. Citricola scale is very light this year, and most of the fumigating will be for black scale.

Cards that the Upland Lions were scattered all over this country. Lion Willis Mehl wrote from Kansas where he was enroute to Michigan, where he will spend a few weeks vacation. J. Emory Sargent wrote from Portland, Oregon; E. C. Rosenberger from Whitney, West Virginia; Fred Williams reminded the home boys that he was on the job at the International Lions convention in Miami, Florida; Robert Campbell wrote from Texas, and to crown it all on Wednesday all the members of the Upland Den who happen to be at home congregated at the Santa Fe depot to bid bon-voyage to Lion Brad Whitney and his family, who were leaving for a sojourn of several months in Europe. Ellery Wright was program chairman at Thursday's meeting and R. J. Tobey of the Ontario Den and Paul Showalter, scout master of Upland Troop No. 3, were visitors.

SKIN GRAFTING MAY SAVE LIFE OF BURNED MAN

Ten Wineville and Fontana Residents Give Up Their Cuticle at Operation In San Antonio Hospital

When Frank Coop, an Italian rancher of Wineville, was frightfully burned while soldering a gasoline can with a blow torch, he was removed to the San Antonio Community hospital in a critical condition.

In order to save the man's life an appeal was sent out for volunteers to give skin for grafting and 10 of his friends went under the knife, furnishing 150 square inches of cuticle for the delicate operation of skin grafting.

Men Contribute Skin From the hospital it is learned that 2,200 grafts were made on different parts of the man's body, and more than 700 per cent of the grafts have been successful. Each of the 10 men who went under the knife contributed an inch and a half of skin.

The condition of the patient, according to superintendent of the hospital, is very favorable. It may be necessary for another graft, but the attending physician is hopeful that a second call for volunteers will not be necessary.

Surgeons Watch Case The men who willingly gave of their skin to save the life of their friend are all residents in and about Wineville and Fontana.

Physicians and surgeons through out this section of the Southland are watching the case with a great deal of interest. As many as six surgeons worked several hours upon the patient and it is looked upon as one of the outstanding operations of the kind in years.

ROTARY SPEAKER COMES BY PLANE

Members of the Upland Rotary Club had a different experience Tuesday, in that one of the speakers arrived by airplane.

Keith Weeks, with his pilot, Joe Brown, arrived here Tuesday for a conference with vineyardists, and at noon the gentlemen were guests of L. A. Weller at the Rotary Luncheon.

Keith Weeks is assistant to Gen. Andrews and is Federal Supervisor of wine control of the United States and at present is working with the Coast Guards Customs office.

Mr. Keith was here to assist local wine grape growers in the solution of their numerous problems and in a brief talk stated he appreciated being at the luncheon and if any grape growers desired his assistance he would certainly be glad to help them as best he could.

Roy Creighton and E. C. Mehl were other speakers at the luncheon. Mr. Creighton giving his craft talk. Mr. Creighton was born in Ohio and came to California when a youngster. There were two girls and four boys in the family, Mr. Creighton being the oldest and his father died previously to their coming here, support of the family proved a problem.

Mr. Creighton first employed his energy in odd jobs as a boy but had always been interested in things mechanical. Bicycles and motorcycles and later automobiles interested him and he worked in Upland's first garage, which was owned by John Rarick. In 1906 Upland boasted six automobiles and it was Mr. Creighton's job to help the owners keep them running.

Operation of three different garages and the fires which destroyed them made an interesting story, but in spite of the fires Mr. Creighton later built the Creighton block at the corner of Second and C streets which is one of the city's attractive business blocks. Mr. Creighton stated it was the first speech he ever made, but in combination with the pictures of former street scenes here it made a most interesting talk.

E. C. Mehl, member of the San Bernardino County Grand Juror, told of the legal procedure in calling the jury together, the duties of the jury and its value to the county.

O. P. Brady was program chairman.

GRAPE GROWERS MAKE HEADWAY IN CAR PLAN

GROWERS SEEK TO SOLVE CAR PLAN

Report Says Railroads Should Decide How To Distribute Facilities—Radical Changes Not Advised

A report from Washington states that the plan for distributing railroad cars among California grape producers in times of shortage was in part approved and in part disapproved in a report submitted to the interstate commerce commission by John L. Rodgers, a special examiner.

California producers associated with the Growers and Shippers' Protective association asked that the entire plan of grape car distribution be abandoned, but the Rodgers' report recommended that the commission allow the railroads to maintain it in most respect without radical change.

The plan requires that whenever a car shortage threatens grape growers must give a six-day advance notice of car requirements, and put up a bond for the payment of freight. By a third provision, an advisory committee of business men is allowed to determine the allocation of cars if there are an insufficient number to meet the shippers' requirements. Against all three of these provisions the growers complained and the Rodgers' report sustained their complaint in part.

"We have considerable doubt as to the propriety of having such a committee perform such a function," the report said.

"It is provided in the grape car plan, that the state of California will be divided into eight districts," the report said, "and that there shall be for each of the districts a public advisory commission composed of growers, shippers and bankers."

"The complainants contend that it is too much to expect that such a committee will act fairly and impartially between all shippers, that the committee will naturally and in the very nature of things, be personally prejudiced, and that in the periods of car shortage it would be disqualified to pass upon requirements stated by the individual shippers."

"While it is understood that the committee is supposed to be familiar with conditions existing within the several districts and would be in a position to advise joint railroad representatives as to the merits of individual shippers' requests we have considerable doubt as to the propriety of having such a committee perform such a function in the distribution of cars between shippers."

"We can see no good reason why carriers' representatives cannot do all that is necessary in the consideration of requests on the estimates of shippers for cars without assistance or advice of individuals who in the most, if not all instances, are personally interested in the grape deal."

THREE MEXICAN BOYS ARRESTED

Tuesday evening Henry Moya, Leonard Espinoza and E. N. Siz, of Ontario, thought that shooting rabbits in Upland would be great sport. So they brought with them two rifles and a shotgun and proceeded to annihilate bunnies on East Fourteenth street, but when they fired into an orange grove in the neighborhood, officers were called. Officers Jedd Sawyer and O. M. Carter responded to the call and placed the young men under arrest on a charge of disturbing the peace. They were taken to the police station, but were released after they had deposited their guns.

Wednesday morning they again appeared at the station, and after they had received a lecture, their guns were returned and they were allowed to go. Two of the young men were born in the United States and the other was a native of Mexico.

PROPERTY TO BE SEIZED FOR TAX PAYMENTS

Assessor Authorized To Take Drastic Action Throughout County—Seizures Will Be Made To Collect Taxes

Seizure of automobiles and closing of retail stores by the county assessors' office has marked this tax season as one of the most active in many years, according to County Tax Assessor A. E. Allen. The automobiles have been seized and the stores closed for the non-payment of taxes on personal unsecured property. The county assessors stated. The taxes are payable at the time the assessment is made, he stated, but in some cases a continuance is granted and the taxpayer is given a few days in which to make the payment.

Sold at Auction If at the end of the period, he still refuses to pay, a notice is sent to him and if that is ignored the assessor takes drastic action and orders the property confiscated and held for auction. Notices of the sale of the property are posted in three public places and the owner given a chance to bid on his property.

The property goes to the highest bidder. If the bid is more than the assessor's claim against it, the surplus, after the claim is paid, is released to the treasurer's office where it is held in a trust fund for several years for the owner of the property. If he fails to call for it within the required period it is turned into the general county fund.

No Civil Actions Thousands of dollars worth of property has been seized by the assessor's office for the non-payment of taxes this year, Assessor Allen stated.

The assessor's office is given the power to seize property for the non-payment of the personal unsecured tax until the first Monday in August. After that time the county office must bring a civil suit to recover the taxes, Mr. Allen declared.

The county assessor added, however, that he did not anticipate having to bring any civil actions this year as the work is being cleaned up and the seizures made as the deputy assessors go along.

RABBITRY SELLS 300 UNITS TO LOCAL FOLKS

Third Section For Housing Rabbits Being Completed—

This week marks the sale of over three hundred units in the Hillcrest Rabbitry at Alta Loma right in this section, states B. C. Lane, local representative of the rabbitry.

Construction of the sheds to house the thousands of rabbits at the rabbitry and to take care of those born each day is going merrily on with many carpenters employed. The third section is being completed as fast as possible and the fourth will soon be under way. At the same time homes to house the employees and officials are being erected and within a very short time the Hillcrest Rabbitry is destined to be a community of some three hundred people.

In the plan there are 165 sheds each 200 feet long and some 80 acres is to be devoted to the industry with 40 acres of it under roof.

It has only been within the past few years that the fur possibilities of California fur rabbits have come before the fur industry. These possibilities have been demonstrated more conclusively by the master breeders of the Hillcrest Rabbitry, who by scientific and patient breeding have produced the largest and finest fur bearing rabbits known as the giant Ermine Strain White Flemish.

Three hundred visited the Hillcrest Rabbitry last Sunday indicating that throughout Southern California there is a great interest in the development of the plant. A refrigerating plant, a tannery as well as a factory where the furs are to be made into garments are all in the plan now under consideration.

WORD RECEIVED OF C. PUCKETT'S ILLNESS IN EAST

MRS. PUCKETT LEAVES FOR HIS BEDSIDE

Willis Mehl Wires From Detroit That Doctors are Confident Of His Early Recovery—Brother Goes East Tonight

Word was received here last night that Charles Puckett who recently left for the east was seriously ill in Detroit and upon receiving the message, Mrs. Puckett left at once for her husband's bedside.

The message reached Upland at four o'clock and Mrs. Puckett left on the Santa Fe Missionary that left Upland at 11:22 last evening.

At nine o'clock this morning members of the Ford Sales Rooms received another message from Detroit stating that Mr. Puckett had had a restful night and that arrangements were being made to move him from the hotel to a hospital.

Later another message was received from Willis Mehl who is also in the east, stating that he had been to see Mr. Puckett and that the doctors were hopeful of an early recovery but that they had advised a weeks rest at some hospital. Mr. Puckett's brother, Lyle Puckett of Alhambra, is leaving tonight for Detroit. Mr. Puckett and H. B. Banta of Ontario, who are both managers of Ford Sales Rooms, left last week for the east hoping to get a glimpse at the new car that Henry Ford is manufacturing and which we are told will soon be on the market and they also planned to spend several days visiting the vast Ford plants.

Mr. Puckett was very well when he left here and his many friends are hoping that his illness is just temporary and that he may feel able to carry out his vacation plans.

FIRST NATIONAL IS HIGH BIDDER ON POWER BONDS

For Third Consecutive Time First National Bank of Upland Successful Bidder For Ontario Power Co. Bonds

For the third consecutive time the First National Bank of Upland has been the high bidder in the purchase of bonds issued by the Ontario Power Company.

Friday, June 17th, the bank was notified that the bid for $86,000 general and refunding 5 1/2 per cent Gold Bonds, Series "B", had been accepted and immediately the bank proceeded to place them.

"Although we hear a lot about scarcity of money," said Chas. V. Barr, president of the First National, "there isn't an alarming scarcity in Upland as practically all these bonds were sold right here in Upland and we have very few left to sell."

"This is the third issue of Ontario Power Company bonds that the First National has purchased and a market for them has been found right here in Upland each time we have offered them for sale."

H. S. FIES GETS M. W. A. OFFICE

Mrs. Elsie Giles of Redlands was elected vice president of the Plink Association of the Modern Woodmen and Royal Neighbors of San Bernardino and Riverside counties at a meeting of the association held Wednesday evening in Colton. Arrangements were made for the annual picnic to be held Aug. 23 in Fairmont Park, Riverside. The committee will meet again next Tuesday evening in Riverside to complete plans for the big outing.

W. G. Ehlers of Riverside was elected president of the association and H. S. Fies of Upland, secretary-treasurer.

STOLEN CARS TO BE OBJECT OF HUNT HERE

State Inspectors Coming To San Bernardino County To Check All Used Automobiles—County Will Help

Inspectors from the state motor vehicle department are expected to arrive in San Bernardino within a few days to co-operate with the county motor traffic bureau in checking the motor number of cars for sale in all used car lots in San Bernardino county.

The state officials are checking the car lots to determine whether all machines are properly listed with the state department, according to San Bernardino officials. Capt. C. J. Boone, chief of the county squad, will send two men with the state inspectors to aid them in making a check of the used car lots.

Complaints Made Complaints that numerous cars are sold every month from used car lots never have been cleared with the motor vehicle department, caused the state department to send out inspectors to check these automobiles.

The campaign is to be a permanent thing, it is said. It will be educational to the dealer and at the same time will protect him from taking in cars stolen from other states, it is believed.

The principal thing to be investigated will be pink slips of ownership. The state inspectors have had numerous complaints, through the county traffic bureau, that persons purchasing second-hand automobiles oftentimes have trouble obtaining the pink slips.

Make Certain of Slip During the check of the used car lots, the inspectors will make certain that the dealer has the pink slip and that the car for the pink slip is in the dealer's lot.

Another source of trouble reported to the county bureau and to the state department of motor vehicles is found in the engines. Many times, motors have been changed from one car to another without the department being notified. These cars are sold to dealers for resale. In other cases serial numbers have been taken off, leaving the machines without any serial number.

Cannot Accept Cars During the rounds of the lots the dealers will be notified that they cannot accept cars for sale which bear license plates from any other state than California, until after the machine is registered with the department to the person who brought it into the state.

The county traffic bureau has been investigating complaints coming into the office and the inspectors will spend more time checking used car lots on which originated the majority of the complaints.

CHAFFEY GRADS RECEIVE HONORS

Merton E. Hill, principal of Chaffey Union High School, has received a letter from E. C. Watson, chairman committee on Honor Students of the California Institute of Technology, Pasadena, in which he announces the honors which Chaffey graduates have won at the Institute this year.

Albert Myers has continued his fine record and has been awarded a Junior Prize-scholarship for the next year and is one of a group of six men selected to compete for the European Travel Prizes next year.

Theodore C. Combs has just been graduated "with honor," and Don McFaddin has maintained "honor standing" for a year.

COMET VISIBLE SUNDAY NIGHT

Astronomers say that the Pons-Winnecke comet should be visible next Sunday night after 10 o'clock. It will be seen a little north of east, and will approach the earth within 3,600,000 miles when at its closest. Astronomers claim that it is only a second-class comet without a tail, making its appearance every six years.

BOOTLEGGERS ON TRIAL IN LOCAL COURT

E. C. ROEHM PLEADS GUILTY AND GETS $500 FINE

Jack Kinzie and Jessie M. Sutcliffe Released On Own Recognizance, To Appear Later—Kinzie's Divorced Wife Pleads For Him

At the preliminary hearing yesterday in Judge Crane's court, E. C. Roehm, Jack Kinzie and Jessie M. Sutcliffe appeared on a charge of possession of liquor and possession of personal property for the manufacture of liquor.

The three were arrested last week at a West Twenty-third street house, where a still, a quantity of mash and liquor were seized by the local police. All the parties arrested, except Mrs. Jessie M. Sutcliffe, were residents of Pomona. Kinzie has been working around this section as a fumigator for several years. Both of the men were well acquainted with A. L. Roe, who was arrested about ten days ago for operating a still on West Seventeenth street. In fact the still confiscated at the West Twenty-third street house was at one time in the possession of Roe.

At the morning session E. C. Roehm pleaded guilty on two charges, possession of liquor and property designed for the manufacture of liquor. He was given a fine of $500 and was later taken to the San Bernardino County jail where he will await trial on another charge.

Roehm said that he had occupied the house for about a week and knew that the still was there, but did not know where it came from or to whom it belonged. He said he was the owner of the liquor and the mash on the premises when arrested by the officers.

Jack Kinzie and Jessie M. Sutcliffe pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial on the charge of possession of a still, while the court was to decide on the possession of liquor charge. Supenas were issued by the court for two witnesses at the request of Kinzie who thought they could appear in the afternoon. An adjournment was then taken until 1 o'clock.

At the afternoon session Kinzie's wife, who lives in Pomona, but who is divorced from her husband, was a witness, and on the stand said that they have three children, a boy and two girls, the oldest of which is nine years old. She said her husband contributes about $30 a month towards their support, that he is a good worker, and if he went to jail she would be deprived of that amount towards their support. It was noticed that they were not on speaking terms. She did not know of his connection with the still or his companions.

Mrs. Jessie M. Sutcliffe, or Kelsey, as she was first known, said that she was married about nine months ago. She was divorced about three months ago, charging her husband with non-support. She promised to go at once to Fullerton, where her husband is located, and it was stipulated that when she was released, that she and her former husband should communicate with Judge Crane, and that both are to sign the letter.

Mabel Flaney, another witness, said that she had visited the house on West Twenty-third street but had not seen the still in operation, but had procured drinks of liquor. Asked if it was the same still she had seen at Roe's place on West Seventeenth street, she said she could not tell as all stills looked much alike.

Kinzie and Jessie M. Sutcliffe were released on their own recognizance, to appear later on charges of possessing liquor.

The prosecution was conducted by Deputy District Attorney C. O. Thompson of San Bernardino.

Knocking the Knockers

Two young men from the "Bible belt" are in the public eye. Both Minnesota small town products, they typify opposite extremes in American character. One is simple and one sophisticated. One is a man of deeds, the other of words. One says: "I talk American, I think American, I am an American." The other blushes whenever he thinks of his national origin.

One has gained his reputation by attempting to expose his country and his countrymen to the world's contempt. The other, leaping from obscurity to world fame by a single unheralded heroic deed, has given a new dignity to the name American. With one bound he vaulted the ocean which rolls between Main Street and the Champs Elysees. By his courage, sagacity and modest dignity he has brought to an American the most spontaneous, universal tribute of admiration that has ever been accorded a citizen of the new world.

In so doing Charles Lindbergh revealed what the cynic Sinclair Lewis overlooked on Main Street, when he peopled it with contemptible caricatures of humanity and sought to make the world believe that this barrenness of mind and character typifies small-town America.

In the unknown Lindbergh of a year ago such "students" of small town types as Lewis would have seen only another yokel, for here was a youth silent, reserved, bashful, unsophisticated, guilty of the provincialism of abstention from every bad habit. These casual observers of the superficial would not have given him a second place or thought. Yet here were qualities, awaiting only some opportunity for expression, which have thrilled the world.

Every great emergency in American history has brought from obscurity leaders of unsuspected greatness. Such an emergency brought Grant from a tannery, Lincoln from a country law office and Lew Wallace from the ring of loafers at a village livery stable. Grant shouldering hides and Lincoln in a linen duster riding a rattling buggy over a rural circuit would have been merely amusing to a boulevardier. Yet within a few years these almost grotesque rustics were to be the central figures in one of the great crises of history.

The super smart-alecks of the self-styled intelligentsia seem to have overlooked something on Main Street; something the world is not now overlooking while it forgets them. For Charles Lindbergh has been accepted by Europe as an American type, with far more justification than in the case of Babbitt or Gantry. To this youth's very lack of sophistication, his innate dignity and simple modesty, is due no small share of the popularity which has made him the idol of mobs and the companion of kings; the first successor, in Europe's most sophisticated capital, of Benjamin Franklin in his drab tradesman's suit and squirrel-skin cap.

If one of these Minnesota youths has had some measure of success in his attempt to degrade his country and his countrymen in the world's eye, in the pursuit of his chief calling as a socialist propagandist, the other has ennobled his country and inspired his countrymen. The spontaneous outburst of adulation which has risen to greet the boy Lindbergh throughout the civilized world, is evidence that humanity, weary of the jeremiads of egocentric pessimists and cynics, still loves above all else the old-fashioned qualities more often developed on Main Street than in Greenwich Village; qualities which lie too far beneath the surface, except in times of crisis, to be visible to those sour synics who prattle about looking only for reasons to think ill of humankind.

(George B. Lockwood)

Successful men are good mixers. They mix a high quality of brains with tireless energy.

A professor of chemistry writes that nothing but nitro-hydrochloric acid will dissolve gold. A correspondent writes: "With all due respect to the learned professor, and science, we are convinced that the professor should be told about matrimony."

Song of Peace

The grass is green on Bunker Hill,
The water's sweet in Brandywine;
The sword sleeps in the scabbard still,
The farmer keeps his flock and vine.
Then who would mar the scene today
With vaunt of battlefield or fray?
The brave corn lifts in regiments
Ten thousand sabers in the sun;
The ricks replace the battle-tents,
The bannered tassels toss and turn,
The mighty steed, the bugle's blast—
These be the stories of the past.
The earth has healed her wounded breast,
The cannons plow the fields no more;
The heroes rest! O, let them rest
In peace along the peaceful shore!
They fought for peace, for peace they fell;
They sleep in peace and all is well.

Los Angeles Has Greatest

Traffic Problem

(Van Nuys News)

Los Angeles has more passenger automobiles than any other city in the world, with the exception of New York, according to an analysis made by the Traffic Commission from figures obtained from the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

Greater New York, with a population of 6,251,000, has 421,212 motor cars. Los Angeles is next with 332,409 automobiles, Chicago third with 317,433, and Detroit fourth with 308,591. These figures do not include trucks or commercial cars.

New York state leads all states in the number of automobiles, there being 1,815,434 registered motor vehicles. California is second with 1,600,475 machines. California leads all states, however, in persons per motor car, there being one car to every 3.11 persons in the state.

There are only 14 states in the Union having more motor cars than Los Angeles County, and only 20 states having more cars than are now registered in the city of Los Angeles.

These figures indicate, according to Dr. Miller McClintock, traffic consultant of the Traffic Commission, that the motor car congestion and traffic safety problems are more serious here than in any other section of the United States.

Airplane Influence

It was necessary to supply gunpowder to make the serf the equal, in fact as well as in theory, of the land-owning baron. The steamship supplied the sinews of the British Empire. The railroad, the electric motor, labor-saving devices, automobiles and radios have created a social organization in America which has fulfilled the theory of the founders of the republic and which exceeds (whether admitted by radicals or not) the wildest dreams of the early socialists.

Now the airplane promises to unite the world in a closer brotherhood than has ever been realized. It is perfectly sensible to think of the airplane as an implement of protection or aggression in time of war, but it is certainly noteworthy that two of the first great exploits of the semi-developed heavier than air machines were conducive of better international feeling. Lindbergh has aided in relieving an awkward situation for our ambassador in Paris. Chamberlain and Levine have advanced our peace relations with Germany. These two steps were important and lead to the hope that men in all the world of this generation will have the common sense to use the new means of transportation to become better acquainted with each other, thus to aid the magnificent theory of world peace. Certainly it is wise to consider carefully all theories, but it is imperative that human ingenuity be called upon to make theories actualities.

Why are Loafers?

A printer who walked through the middle of his city every day for half a century on his way to his day's work kept asking over and over again of himself and of every listener this question: "Why are loafers?"

"Why will men waste their time sitting around in the park doing nothing, day in, day out? The same old gang has been there since I was a boy.

"I saw them sitting there on the day McKinley was elected President; I saw them still there on the day America went into the world war; I see them still there today watching the new building going up on the corner. Why do they do it?"

The printer's friends like to tease him about it—told him how joyful it must be to sit in the sun doing nothing at all, with never any hurry about anything. The old printer would admit that vacations were all right, recreation was all right, basking in the sun on occasion might be beneficial. But he saw the distinction clearly—loafing was different. Loafers couldn't even really enjoy loafing, because they never could be sure of the next meal or any future comfort.

The printer died at the end of a long and hard-working lifetime, his question still unanswered.

Nor can we answer it. The joys to the worker of occasional basking in the sun, of a few weeks of a year of supreme laziness of mind and body are joys chiefly by contrast with useful, busy, normal living.

Loafing year in, year out, is different. Why is a loafer, anyhow?

Advertising Lowers Cost

(La Puente Journal)

Newspaper advertising in America cost $235,000,000 last year, a gain of $15,000,000 over the previous year.

It has been argued that advertising is so much waste, so much added unnecessarily to the cost of the articles sold. In one sense, it is true; if the sales could be made without it, the prices could be just that much less to the consumer.

But the world buys only on information. It travels because it knows where to go, what it can see, how much it will cost. It builds new houses because it reads how other people build and live and enjoy. It dresses in new fabrics because these come to its reading eyes. It is many times cheaper to get all this information by reading than in any other manner. The world would settle down into a jumble of ignorant, unkempt, leave-me-alone provincial units, but for what it reads in the advertising columns.

Tested Recipes

Apple Snow

Separate the whites and yolks of two eggs, and beat each thoroughly; add two tablespoons of granulated sugar and two cups of milk to the yolks and cook until it thickens. Flavor and set aside to cool. To the beaten whites add one tart apple, which has been pared and grated. Add one cup of pulverized sugar gradually, and beat until light. Keep on ice until ready to serve, then put the custard in a glass bowl and pile the beaten mixture on top.

Pineapple Pudding

Soak a cup of tapioca over night in three cups of water, then boil until clear; juice of three lemons, three cups of sugar, one pint can pineapple; stir all together, and stir in hot tapioca; lastly add the beaten whites of three eggs and a half cup of English walnuts.

Orange Pudding

One-half cup sugar, one pint of milk, one orange, two eggs, three tablespoons corn starch. Moisten the corn starch in a small portion of the milk. Beat the yolks of the eggs with the sugar. Scald the milk and add to it the grated rind of the orange, the corn starch, eggs and sugar and orange juice in the order named. When cold pour into a pudding dish. Cover with a meringue made from whites of the eggs and one-half cup of sugar. Brown in the oven and serve cold.

Bread Pudding

One beaten egg, one coffee cup of sweet milk, one small handful of English currants and enough stale bread (minus crusts) soaked and mashed smooth in the mixture to make it sufficiently stiff to press into shape with the hands. Bake in a buttered pan about half an hour until it rises light and puffy, and serve with a sauce made from one saucer of boiling water and one tablespoonful of vinegar for each person to be served. Sugar to make very sweet, and one scant tablespoon of corn starch dissolved in cold water to thicken; add one teaspoon each of butter and vanilla and a liberal grating of nutmeg.

Graham Pudding

One cup molasses, one cup sour milk, one cup raisins, one cup chopped walnuts, two cups graham flour, one teaspoon soda, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon nutmeg. Steam three hours.

Prune Pudding

Twenty-five dried prunes, twelve English walnuts, three tablespoons of sugar, whites of five eggs. Cook prunes, seed and chop the walnuts; add three tablespoons of sugar; beat whites of eggs, mix and bake in a pan of boiling water one-half hour. Serve with whipped cream or pudding sauce.

English Plum Pudding

One pound raisins, seeded; one pound currants, one-half pound lemon, orange and citron peel, chopped fine; three-quarters pound suet, chopped very fine; three-quarters pound bread crumbs grated very fine, two teaspoons dark brown sugar, two teaspoons fresh butter, two teaspoons flour sifted with two teaspoonfuls baking powder, one-half teaspoonful ground cloves, one teaspoonful ground cinnamon, one grated nutmeg, one teaspoonful salt, two tablespoonfuls chopped almonds, six eggs, one level teaspoonful baking soda stirred into butter-milk. Mix suet, bread crumbs, spices, flour and chopped peel. Dust currants and raisins slightly with flour to prevent their settling to the bottom then add them; then the milk and last the eggs, beaten well. Stir all well and let stand from one to two hours before boiling. Butter a two-quart mould or bowl. Tie a cheese cloth well floured on top loosely to allow pudding to swell, and place in steamer and steam from three to six hours. The day it is to be eaten return to mould and steam from one to two hours. Turn out on dish and serve with any preferred sauce.

Ambrosia

One package gelatine, one cup cold water, one-half cup sugar, whites of four eggs, flavor to taste. Take one-half cup of water and put in the gelatine and set on the stove until thoroughly dissolved, then add the remaining one-half cup of water and set aside until lukewarm. Beat eggs until very stiff and add gelatine very slowly; add the sugar and beat twenty minutes. Divide into two equal parts and dissolve enough pink coloring to make it a light pink; put it in a buttered mould with a layer of ground walnuts between on top. Put on ice and serve with whipped cream. Better made the day before.

INDIGENT LAW IS EXPLAINED

County No Longer To Care For Non-Residents As Amendments Enacted County Will Save Much Money Yearly

Hundreds of dollars will be saved by San Bernardino county each year by the law enacted by the legislature in its last session which will place the burden of caring for indigents on the state from which they came unless they have resided in this state for a year, thus establishing themselves as a resident of the state, Mrs. Maude S. Bell, secretary of the county welfare commission, said yesterday.

Heretofore, Mrs. Bell said, the county welfare commission has had to care for indigents, sometimes numbering several in each family, almost from the day of their arrival here. Efforts to have them return to the state from which they came were futile. The amending of the law, however, will make it possible to send these families back to their own states. Mrs. Bell asks the co-operation of charitable organizations here in caring for these indigents. In some cases that have come to her attention, she said, the people for whom this county is caring have been found eligible to aid in the state from which they came but prefer to stay here under the care of this county.

"If the citizens want a reduction of taxes they should stand back of the policies which public welfare organizations are forming," Mrs. Bell said. "Especially should private welfare organizations do this. Too often they take over cases of dependency only to eventually pass them over to the county."

A. H. SAPP, PRESIDENT OF ROTARY INTERNATIONAL

When Arthur Sapp of Huntington, Ind., who was chosen president of Rotary International at the annual convention of the organization, held at Ostend, Belgium in June, isn't in court trying a lawsuit, it is a fairly reasonable assumption that he is trying to convince some trade association to adopt a code of ethical business practices. Mr. Sapp got into the habit of inducing business men to standardize their practice and go on record as to what should and should not be considered ethical when he was chairman of Rotary's Business Methods committee in 1924.

He took the job seriously and filling suit-case with facts and figures and a hand-bag with clothing, started out in search of trade associations. He found them in Mexico, Canada and the United States. He traveled from coast to coast, for the privilege of appearing before a trade convention and explaining his idea of ethical business methods. Before they heard him, many of the trade associations were willing to get along without even a talk on business ethics, but before the end of the year, half a hundred trade bodies and professional associations had adopted codes of standard practice.

He talked with lawyers, doctors, manufacturers, retailers, jobbers and wholesalers. As a result of his work and of his successor's in the chairmanship of this committee, a majority of the leading business and professional bodies have now standard codes of ethical practice.

As a result of the record he established as Chairman of the Business Methods committee, Mr. Sapp was named first vice president of Rotary International at the Cleveland convention in 1925 and the following year he took over the chairmanship of the Constitution and By-Laws committee.

Mr. Sapp was born at Ravenna, Ohio, and spent his childhood and early manhood on his father's farm. He graduated from the Ravenna High School in 1903 and worked his way through Ohio Wesleyan University, from which he graduated with a degree of A. B. in 1907.

In order to become a lawyer, Mr. Sapp explains, it was necessary for him to learn tree surgery and boarding house management.

He was a member of the first gang of tree surgeons which operated in this country. In this way and by managing a boarding house he acquired enough money to complete his education. After graduation from college, he taught Latin in the high school of Chattanooga, Tenn., and later engaged in educational work in Kansas City, Mo., and Huntington, Ind. He obtained his legal education from the University of Chicago Law School and at the Indiana Law School. He graduated from the latter institution in 1912.

He has practiced law in Huntington since his graduation. Three times the voters of his judicial district elected him prosecuting attorney.

Mr. Sapp is a trustee of Evansville College and has been prominently associated with DePauw and Ohio Wesleyan Universities. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the National Laymen's Missionary Movement.

He has served as director of the Y. M. C. A. in his home city and is a member and has taken a prominent part in the local and state and American bar associations.

Mr. Sapp joined the Huntington Rotary Club in 1917. He served successfully as secretary, president and member of the board of directors of his club. He has also served Rotary International as governor of the 20th Rotary district which comprises the state of Indiana.

FOUR STATES TO HAVE
ANNUAL REUNION JULY 16

Four great summer picnic reunions are being announced for Bixby Park, Long Beach, under the auspices of the state organizations. The Pennsylvanians will lead off Saturday, July 16th, and Illinois will follow the 23rd. Nebraska's contingent will use Saturday the 30th, and Saturday, August 13th, the Iowans, 10,000 strong will rally. As the picnickers will come in from hundreds of miles around this advance notice will enable them to make their plans to meet the old home state neighbors.

Each state will offer all the picnic attractions and will open country registers, supply souvenir badges and coffee. All programs will follow the basket dinner hour. Every former resident of the state is always welcome.

Delightful Birthday Celebration

In honor of her mother, Mrs. O. W. Freeman's seventieth birthday anniversary, Mrs. Ray R. Ford entertained most delightfully a group of friends and neighbors at her home in Archibald avenue on Tuesday afternoon, being assisted by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank Freeman. Garden flowers in hand-some baskets, and bowls of fragrant sweet peas, gifts of remembrance to the honoree, decorated the attractive home. A very pleasing surprise to the honoree, Mrs. Freeman, was the shower of lovely birthday gifts and the reading of a beautifully worded poem dedicated to her by Mrs. Belle Wainwright. Delicious refreshments of ice cream and birthday cakes were served by the hostess following a social hour or two. Invited in honor of Mrs. Freeman were the following: Mrs. Mary J. Reid, Miss Gertrude Reid, Mrs. J. W. McKee, Mrs. W. H. Rupp, Mrs. Geo. E. Keyes, Mrs. O. W. Hatch, Mrs. T. M. Joseph, Mrs. W. C. Belden, Mrs. Martha VonSien, Mrs. Belle Wainwright, Mrs. L. R. Thomas, Mrs. Arthur Forster, Mrs. Gordon Billings, Mrs. O. P. Whitney, Mrs. Clifford Beckman, Mrs. W. E. Morse, Mrs. A. C. Beattie, Mrs. E. S. Bishop, J. B. Ford of Upland; Mrs. Frank Freeman, Misses Helen Todd and Mabel Benjamin.

visit the latter's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Chafe for several days.

Mrs. Clifford Beckman and three children, including the new little three months' old daughter Phyllis, have returned home from a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Gilbert in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Chas. Brown, accompanied by her sister-in-law and house-guest, Mrs. Ben VonSien, of Waseca, Minn., journeyed to Los Angeles where they spent Tuesday.

Mrs. W. J. Kincaid returned home from Los Angeles and Long Beach Tuesday evening, where she had enjoyed a visit with her sister, Mrs. David L. Keyes and other relatives, for the past week.

Mrs. M. J. Reid is looking forward to the arrival within a few days of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Owen of San Francisco, who will motor down from the north on a little vacation trip.

Friends of Mrs. W. W. Hatch will be pleased to hear that she is slowly recuperating after her long spell of illness.

The new stucco home under construction for B. H. Wilson in Lomita Drive, is expected to be ready for occupancy about July 1st.

Making up a party motoring on Tuesday to the cherry festival in Yucaipa Valley, were Mrs. Hubert Clegg, Mrs. W. S. Smith, Mrs. Homer Stipe and Mrs. Marvin Van Zant.

Miss Dorothy McCleary and brother Bob McCleary, of Los Angeles, are expected over the weekend guests at the home of their aunt, Mrs. E. S. Bishop.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Freeman were hosts at a dinner party of charming appointments at their home in Archibald avenue Wednesday evening, the occasion honoring the birthday anniversary of their mother, Mrs. O. W. Freeman. Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. Ray R. Ford and son Robert; Mr. Roy Freeman of Cucamonga; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ford of Upland and the hosts.

HOTPOINT EMPLOYEES WILL PICNIC AT BIG PINES—

Thirty-nine employees of the Hotpoint factory in Ontario and their friends are looking forward with much pleasurable anticipation to tomorrow when they will leave for their annual outing to Big Pines. Every year the men employed at the Hotpoint stage a week-end party and rare and varied are the tales that the gentlemen tell on their return. Following is the plan that will be followed this year. E. M. Richardson, W. H. Tangeman and

P. H. Vanden Berg are in charge of the transportation. Leaving the Hotpoint club house at two o'clock it is planned to have supper at the camp at six o'clock.

W. L. Chaplin, W. H. Tangeman and C. J. Highland have been appointed chefs and that trio are warranted to turn out a meal that would rival the Biltmore.

The men have systematized every item of their outing and have even appointed a corps of dishwashers. They plan on spending much of Sunday in hiking and will return home in the late afternoon.

CHARMING AFFAIR COMPLIMENTS MRS. TRACY—

Mrs. John Tracy was the complimented guest at a charming afternoon affair, given yesterday by Mrs. R. H. Marr at her home 178 Craig street. Attractive old-fashioned bouquets were used with charming effect in the decoration of the rooms and the guests were all members of the Young Women's Class of the Methodist church Sunday school.

The afternoon was spent in social visiting and doing dainty needle work and at the close of the day Mrs. Marr, assisted by Mrs. B. C. Nichols, Mrs. Carl Nicholson and Mrs. Frank Goodban, served a delicious supper to the guests. Among those invited to spend the afternoon with Mrs. Tracy were Mrs. Gross Alexander, Mrs. D. C. Anderson, Mrs. Arthur Betz, Mrs. George Foote, Mrs. C. Spies, Mrs. Harry Cooley, Mrs. D. James, Mrs. Pickett, Mrs. E. A. Clausen, Miss Lela Farmer and Miss Florence Mehl.

BUSINESS WOMEN DINE IN ONTARIO—

Fifty members of the Upland Business and Professional Woman's club and their guests entertained with a cafeteria supper and program on Tuesday evening at the New Ontario Hotel in Ontario.

Mrs. R. C. Williams, the newly elected president, presided and she in turn introduced Miss Elizabeth Harris chairman of the social committee who announced the numbers of the program.

The outstanding number of the evening was an illustrated lecture by Dean Charles J. Booth of the Chaffey Junior College, who spoke on the "High Sierras," bringing home to his hearers by means of the stereoscopic pictures, many of the beautiful scenes he had seen, when he traversed the Sierras not long ago.

Some of the pictures depicted the Hetch Hetchy Valley, the Yosemite and King's River canyon as well as many views of the luxurious verdure and flowers that are found in that higher country.

A program of music and readings preceded the lecture. Mrs. R. S. Anderson of Ontario, who is eighty years old, gave a group of clever readings that were heartily enjoyed, at the close of the evening she was presented with a gorgeous basket of blossoms as was Mr. Booth.

Miss Harris in her capacity of chairman, called upon several of the guests for short talks. Mrs. Clyde Calhoun of Santa Ana who at one time was president of the Upland club, responded with a few well chosen words as did Mrs. Howard Graves, who was recently elected division president of the Sons of Veterans Auxiliary.

Miss Dana Williams, the new president of the Ontario Business Women's Club made a graceful little speech, telling of her plans for the future and also of her work as the county president.

Mrs. George Winter, president of the Southern District, also spoke a few words and the meeting closed with community singing led by Mrs. Fred McMullen and with Mrs. George Anderson presiding at the piano.

MERRY WIVES BEING ENTERTAINED TODAY—

Members of the Merry Wives Embroidery Club are enjoying a charming afternoon today at the home of Mrs. N. G. Pehl, 307 First avenue.

A profusion of rainbow-tinted hydrangeas and summer blossoms are the attractive floral motif chosen by the hostess and the afternoon will be spent in doing fancy work or playing cards as the fancy of the guests may dictate.

A delicious two course collation will be a feature of the late afternoon hour with Mrs. F. W. Palmer assisting the hostess.

Among the club members who will be present are Mrs. E. C. Eymann, Mrs. William Brown, Mrs. G. A. Brest, Mrs. Paul Cushing, Mrs. D. D. Crew, Mrs. T. M. Nichols, Mrs. C. K. Francisco, Mrs. George Gregg, Mrs. Thomas Harris, Mrs. Perry Long, Mrs. F. H. Manker, Mrs. Grace Paulin and Mrs. Charles Sikes.

RUTH CRANE TO TOUR ENGLAND—

To have been born in Upland and never to have been outside of the state, in fact never to have ridden on a steam train since she was a little tot of just a few years old and then all of a sudden to find one self on the way to England, sounds like a dream, but it is the truth, never-the-less and is the experience of Miss Ruth Crane, daughter of Judge and Mrs. George Crane.

Miss Crane, who is well known here, was one in a party of four who left on Wednesday on the first lap of a delightful trip that will take them as far as England. Mrs. Morrison of Pasadena is hostess of the party and Miss Crane, who is a nurse, will have charge of Mrs. Morrison's little four year old son.

Judge and Mrs. Crane received a card from their daughter yesterday which was post marked Kansas, in which she stated that the motion of the train was much more smooth than she had expected it to be, but also that the coaches were much dustier than she had expected.

In this day of luxurious automobiles, it is not at all strange to find a person who has not ridden on the steam cars, and although Miss Crane has traveled many miles in her home state it has always been either by automobile or street cars.

Mr. and Mrs. Crane were at the local depot on Wednesday to wave bon-voyage to their daughter and they expect to receive many interesting letters and cards from her while she is away.

The voyagers will be gone three months and enroute to the east they will stop in Michigan for a visit of several days before sailing on the S. S. Isle de France which will make her maiden trip from the United States to Liverpool on July 2nd.

MRS. DUNCAN ENTERTAINS EVENING BRIDGE CLUB—

Mrs. Clyde Duncan was a charming hostess recently when assisted by her sister, Miss Hannah Chaney she entertained members of the Evening Bridge Club at her home 581 Laurel avenue.

The hostesses chose bouquets of lovely pink and red gladioli for their decorations, and tables were attractively placed for the game of auction bridge. Prizes at the close of the tourney were awarded to Mrs. Hubert Manker who scored highest and Miss Nellie Bradley captured the consolation gift.

At the close of the evening Mrs. Duncan and Miss Chaney served a dainty repast to their guests who numbered Mrs. George Cassell, Mrs. Hubert Manker, Mrs. Elroy Wright, Mrs. Owen Davis, Mrs. Arthur Boone, Mrs. Ardy Mills, Mrs. Bruce Moore, Miss Lillian Ware, Miss Lauretta Shinkle and Miss Nellie Bradley.

SILVER TEA AT PALIS HOME—

Among the many charming affairs that are planned for tomorrow afternoon from two to four o'clock is the benefit Silver Tea, which members of Mary Brainerd Tent No. 48, Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War will sponsor at the home of Mrs. A. L. Palis on Euclid avenue.

Mrs. C. B. Danters and Mrs. Claude P. Mengle will be hostesses for the affair and they have planned a delightful program of music and readings for their guests.

All the money derived from this tea will be forwarded to the Mississippi Flood Relief Fund, and a cordial invitation is extended to all the people in the community to attend.

MR. AND MRS. PODRASNIK ARE ROYAL HOSTS—

Members of the Upland-Ontario Grand Army Post have come to look forward each year to the date of June 21st for on that day Alois Podrasnik, who is commander of the post and Mrs. Podrasnik are hosts to all the comrades, officers of the Woman's Relief Corps and the wives and widows of the Grany Army men. Each year the affair is held at beautiful Villa Alois, the home of the Podrasniks on San Antonio Heights and is in the nature of a gala fete.

At an early hour in the morning the Chaffey High School bus laden with the guests arrived at Villa Alois and all through the day there wasn't a dull moment. The party was held on the beautiful green lawn that fronts the house and Old Glory flowing from a staff, waved its benediction to the happy throng below.

At noon a delicious chicken dinner with all the trimmings was served on gayly decorated tables that were set on the lawn and afternoon's program consisted of music and readings, the latter being featured by an original poem written by Mrs. Mable Alter. Although the number of Grand Army men grows smaller every year still there were present on Tuesday from the local post Comrades Anderson, Ernest, VanPelt, Limbert, Campbell, LeGrange, Yingst, Tucker, Kruchi, Rankin, Woods, DeLaney, Parker and the host Mr. Podrasnik. Other guests numbered S. H. Wood of New York; Philip Swick, A. J. Baldwin, Pomona; Philip Lawrence, Pomona; Mrs. Anna D. Stolte, president of the Relief Corps; Mrs. Ralph Marr, Mrs. Myrtal B. Marten, Mrs. Flora H. Perry, Mrs. Eleanor Graves, division president of the Son's of Union Veterans auxiliary; Miss

Helen Taylor, Mrs. Libbie Harwood, Mrs. Lulu Chastine, Mrs. Emma Bryant, Mrs. Helen Monroe, Mrs. Etlie Anderson, Mrs. Sarah Norton, Mrs. Josephine Confer, Mrs. A. Yingst, Mrs. J. M. Hawthorne, Mrs. Sarah Whitaker, Mrs. Margaret Wehmyer, Mrs. Hattie Gilbert, Mrs. Mable Alter, Mrs. Sophronia Dull, Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, Mrs. Hattie B. Knoll, Mrs. Flora Talbert, Mrs. Lucinda Studebaker, Mrs. Martha Terrell, Mrs. Laura Halfhill, Mrs. Alice Reed, Mrs. Mary B. MISS BRADLEY SURPRISES FRIENDS—

When Mrs. M. E. Walk and her daughter Miss Thelma McIntosh, 850 East Ninth street, invited a coterie of their friends on Saturday evening to a delightful party honoring Miss Sylvia Bradley whose marriage to Mr. Leroy McDill of Ontario was supposed to be an event of the near future, they little thought that the honoree had stolen a march on her friends and was already a bride. But such was the case, and Miss Bradley announced that she had been married to Mr. McDill last November, and they had succeeded in keeping the fact a secret all this time. The guests had all come laden with beautiful gifts for Mrs. McDill's new home and a delightful evening was spent in admiring each lovely remembrance. At a late hour the hostesses served a delicious repast to their guests who numbered besides the guest of honor, Miss Ella Black, Miss Avis Hill, Miss Ethel Settle, Miss Beatrice Rausin, Miss Marjorie Tilden, Miss Hazel Speck, Miss Elizabeth Dacus, Miss Mary Lehigh, Miss Margaret Muller, Mrs. Pauline Clotinger and Miss Alta Bradley.

MRS. WIDMARK ENTERTAINS AUXILIARY—

Members of La Estrella Auxiliary, Order of the Eastern Star, motored to the San Antonio Canyon home of Mr. and Mrs. David Widmark on Wednesday where they spent a delightful day. Automobiles carrying the guests left Upland at an early hour and the members enjoyed an interesting hike over the hills before luncheon. The delicious luncheon which was a surprise affair, was served on the spacious porch, which overlooks the beautiful flower garden.

During the afternoon many hunted wild strawberries and flowers while the rest played bridge. Thirty-five members were present and a short business session was a feature of the afternoon, at which the president, Mrs. A. M. Wisely presided. Mrs. W. S. Avery was chairman of the transportation committee and the next meeting of the Auxiliary will be held at the mountain cabin of Mrs. Harry Kennedy when Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. Charles Deverts and Mrs. Belle Wisely will be hostesses.

PECTIN FROM ORANGE PULP

Announcement was made by Herbert Bailey, manager of the Exchange Orange Product plant, in Ontario, that they will build an addition to the already large plant. The addition will be about one-half the size of the present office and warehouse building.

Pectin will be extracted from the pulp, which is now sold to dairymen, or dried for shipment to other parts of the country, the pulp still retaining the properties that make it a valuable cattle food. That pectin can be extracted from the pulp is a recent discovery made by chemical research in the laboratory of the California Fruit Growers Exchange. The new plant will be completed by the beginning of the next season in January, and will employ from 10 to 20 men.

"QUEER" MONEY IN CIRCULATION

H. C. Naylor, secretary of the Upland Business Men's Association, states that within the last few days several cases have been reported where parties have had bogus twenty-five and fifty-cent pieces passed on them.

It is possible that some counterfeit or an accomplice is "passing the queer" in cities of Southern California, as reports from several places are to the effect that counterfeit money has been in circulation in their communities. The coins are a poor counterfeit and can easily be detected.

NAN OF THE NEWS

We hear a lot these days about the selfishness of the modern boy and girl. Magazines and newspapers devote whole pages to the so-called ungratefulness of the younger generation. Many writers are bending every effort to impress upon us how unkindly the modern youth treats his parents, and I some times wonder if a lot of this stuff isn't sheer applesauce.

Funny we never hear about the fine things the boys and girls do for their parents. Funny the writers never tell how the young folks put their youthful shoulders to the wheel, helping in their childish way to make the wheels of progress turn.

Oh I am willing to admit that there are a lot of boys and girls who take and take from the parents, never thinking to give back one iota of the wealth they have received. But there are also those who pay back, perhaps not measure for measure, but at least give all the love their childish hearts possess and all the treasures their hands hold.

Just recently I have heard of several cases right here at home where the children are standing shoulder to shoulder with the parents, carrying their share of the every day burden, trying with might and main to make things easier for all who dwell under that roof.

Perhaps you will say "that's as it should be" and I agree with you, but why always hold up the dark side of life, why always show the young folks in a dark light? Why I think they are fine young folks and I am sure just as unselfish and loyal as their parents ever thought of being.

Why just let me tell you one thing that a group of these same young folks recently did. At present somewhere back in Ohio there is a dear old father and mother who are enjoying the first real holiday that they have had for forty years and some where in Upland there are three young women and two young men who have labored hard that dad and mother might have that vacation. It took a lot of coaxing I'll admit to make the old folks take the children's vacation money, but the children insisted, even brought the railroad tickets and put dad and mother on the train and now the children are getting as real a thrill out of reading the old folks letters as if they were back there themselves. What difference if the five go without a vacation this year, what difference if that much needed dress or suit can't be bought until another year, father and mother are having a good time and that is the most important thing of all. And this is only just one case, there are hundreds of cases just like the above one, and yet a lot of these calamity Janes and Johnnies go around telling about the selfishness of the young folks.

ONTARIO CHAMBER SEEKING AIRPORT

With the object in view of establishing a municipal airport that will be open to all flyers, a committee, appointed by the Ontario Chamber of Commerce, is busy this week inspecting possible sites for such a landing field. Thomas R. Cummins is chairman of the committee and the other members are Mayor Francis P. Williams, Lieut. Ralph Vaughn and Councilman Roy D. Newton.

They will investigate the possibilities of the present airport, which lies north of State street and west of San Antonio avenue and the advisability of obtaining a lease on this plot. There are said to be many objections to this aviation field, chief among which is that it is too narrow. Lease on this landing field, which was held by W. D. Waterman, commercial pilot, is said to have recently expired.

According to members of the committee, they have several sites in view and a report of their findings will be made before the next meeting of the chamber directors. Newton is now investigating the question of how far a municipality may go in the matter of leasing ground for a municipal airport and if bonds may be issued for this purpose.

STOCK SALESMEN TOLD TO LEAVE

Six stock salesmen were ordered to leave town yesterday by Officer Louis Kronmeyer, when H. C. Naylor, secretary of the Upland Business Men's association, notified him that the stock men were trying to sell had every appearance of being bogus.

As no sales had been made, no action was taken against the salesmen.

CLAIMS MAN BROKE WINDOW

In Judge Crane's court yesterday morning a charge of disturbing the peace brought by George Vigio against M. Beccaria was dismissed when Vigio withdrew the charge. Both men are Italians and live in Cucamonga.

Vigio claimed in his complaint that his fellow countryman hurled a rock through a window of his home, and was trying to gain admittance.

POMONA BOY CHANGES PLEA

Dorward Whittenmeyer, 16-year-old Pomona youth yesterday withdrew his plea of guilty to a charge of murdering Mrs. Fannie Weigle of Pomona several weeks ago and indicated he would fight his case before a jury.

The boy was represented by the public defender, who informed the court a misunderstanding existed between Whittenmeyer and other attorneys at the time of the guilty plea. The court set next Monday as the day for entering a new plea.

The youth, known as the "impulse slayer," confessed he beat the woman to death with an automobile spring leaf, "just to hear her scream."

Grade Cards Soon To Be Given Out

Exact date that grade cards will be issued to Chaffey high school and Junior College students was indefinite today, it was announced from both offices.

However, work is being rushed to have the grade cards ready for students as soon as possible. Announcement will be made in the paper when the grade cards will be available.

Graduates of both the high school and Junior college received their grade cards on commencement night.

Quite a number of students left self-addressed envelopes in the office and as soon as the grade cards are ready, these students will receive them by mail.

Yesterday Officer Harold C. Anderson arrested Refugio Olibary, when he was caught speeding down Euclid avenue at a rate of 55 miles an hour, and crossing intersections at a high rate of speed. This morning he pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving and was fined $30 or 30 days in jail. At noon he was still in jail unable to raise the $30.

Corona is planning a real old-fashioned celebration this year.

Off For Y Camp

A truck-load of forty-two boys left the Y. M. C. A. building Wednesday noon for their annual outing at Jenks Lake, boys' summer camp-site in the San Bernardino mountains.

According to Elmer Coble, local Y secretary, who is in charge of the boys, this year's camp will be the best ever held by the organization. Coble took with him as his assistants, Rev. Paul Wright, in charge of music and Bible instruction; J. B. Curtis, nature study and chief life guard; John Dutton, editor of camp paper; Ralph Milliken, howling and woodcraft; Paul Wright, Jr., baseball and woodcraft.

A feature of this year's camp will be music and it is planned to have both a boys' band and an orchestra. The Rev. Wright has had great success with boy musicians and the youngsters left equipped with musical instruments of all descriptions.

Safety will be the watchword at Camp Jenks this season, especially in regard to swimming. Curtis and Coble, who are to look after this part of the program, will be assisted by Max Glass, Randall Curry and Ned Allen, who have passed numerous life-saving tests and are fully qualified for this work.

Saturday and Sunday will be visitors days in the camp and parents and friends who are planning to call on the boys are requested to do so only on those days.

In addition to instructive work, plenty of physical exercises and games will be provided and clean living and fair play will be emphasized. It is planned to take several motion pictures in the camp this season.

Realty Board Meets

W. T. Hadley, familiarly known among poultry men as "Old Iron Spoon," was the principal speaker before the Ontario Realty Board, when that body met this week at luncheon at the Ontario Hotel.

Hadley, who discussed poultry raising as a business, stated that the industry is fundamentally sound and that large establishments, where very accurate books records have been kept, have consistently shown good profits. As in any business, however, the speaker said, there are both good and poor managers and it is always the well managed poultry business that shows the profit and the poorly managed one the loss. Many persons, he continued, who have claimed that poultry raising did not pay, have charged overhead expenses against their business which were not justified.

Announcement was made at the luncheon of the coming meeting of appraisal committees of the various state boards, which is scheduled to be held in Pasadena on Thursday, June 30. Willard D. Ball, Sr., chairman of the local appraisal committee, is planning to attend, as are Abel Armstrong, C. W. Paris and William Plisman, other members of the committee.

According to Ball, the work of the appraisal committees is chiefly to furnish interested parties with the market values of real estate and eliminate misrepresentations on the part of persons overly anxious to make a deal. The purpose of the Pasadena meeting is to stimulate interest in this work and acquaint members of the various committees with the work being accomplished in other cities.

SUMMER BEGAN WED., JUNE 22

Many persons are under the impression that summer always begins on the 21st of June. This year, however, it began on the 22nd of the month, which was also the longest day and the shortest night of the year.

From now on the days will become shorter, but it will not become noticeable for at least a month, as there will be a difference of only a little less than two minutes a day. After a month or six weeks it will become noticeable that the days are getting shorter, which will continue until December 22, when the winter season begins.

Autumn begins on the 23rd of September, when day and night are of equal length.

LYMAN SINGERS GREEK THEATRE

After a year's triumph in New York City the Lyman Singers, composed of four Pomona College graduates, will be presented by the Pomona College summer session in their home concert in the Pomona College Open-air theatre Monday evening, the 27th, at 7:30 P. M. The quartet recently returned from New York City after singing their way west to Southern California.

The Lyman Singers open their public concert season with their home concert which brings them back to the campus where they received their undergraduate training. They have called themselves the Lyman Singers in tribute to Prof. Ralph Lyman, head of the Pomona College department of Music. The quartet is also well known by another name as during the 1926 Christmas season they were appointed the National Christmas Seal Troubadours.

The program which they will present Monday evening will be divided into nine groups featured by four solos, a group of negro spirituals, Indian airs and sea chanteys.

Among the most interesting of these groups is the Indian airs composed by Lehmer who was a former University of California professor whose life hobby has been the study of Indian airs. Lehmer made many trips into the prairie Indian districts learning the music of the tribes and has transcribed their airs in a simple but effective manner. The composer is now in Montana where he is studying the airs of the Montana Indians and has composed an orchestral overture on the Indian music theme which is to be played next year by the Montana symphony orchestra.

The quartet was fortunate to be given the right to sing these airs through their friendship with Radlana Pazmore, who was formerly a teacher in the Pomona College department of music and whose father was an intimate friend of Mr. Lehmer. The songs are interpreted according to Mr. Lehmer's personal direction.

The complete program of the quartet as announced is as follows: Now is the Month of Maying, Morley; To Celia, Old English and Land of Mine, McDermid, by the quartet; Homing, Del Riego, by John Mangold, first tenor; Negro Spirituals—Heaven Song, arranged and Go Down Moses, Arr. Brewer, by the quartet; Indian airs by Lehmer, including Invocation to the Sun (Tina) by the quartet and Down the Stream (Mikow) and Song of the Lonely Trail (Yurok) by Raymond Moreman, second tenor, flute accompaniment by Winifred Bahecock; Huntsman's Farewell, Mendelssohn, The Drum, Gibson, and Morning, Speaks, by the quartet; The Nomad, Hamden by Blackwell Smith, bass; Sea chanteys by Bartholomew, including Eight Bells, Away to Rio and Old Man Noah, by the quartet; Slow Horses Slow, Jalcowicz, by Gentry McCorkle, baritone; and Va Little Banjo, Dickmont, Shadow March, Protheroe, Irish Folk Song, Foote, and The Builder, Cadman, sung by the quartet.

Admission to the Monday evening twilight concert of the Lyman Singers will range from fifty cents for adults to twenty-five cents for children under high school age. All seats unreserved.

GRAND OPENING OF SUMMER SEASON AT REDONDO BEACH

A program of special free attractions has been arranged for the official summer opening at Redondo Beach on Saturday and Sunday when a record-breaking crowd of visitors is anticipated. Festivities Saturday will include special entertainers, band concert, and a grand carnival ball in the evening. Sunday there will be band concerts, novelty vaudeville and special musical entertainers on the water front.

Besides the picnic ground, fishing and swimming, Redondo Beach offers a novel entertainment every Wednesday afternoon during the summer for the children. Vaudeville shows and free dancing will be added attractions on these special afternoons.

Lemon Pudding

The yolks of two eggs well beaten, one and three fourths cup of sugar, two tablespoonsful corn starch, dissolved in cold water; add the juice and grated rind of two lemons, one large teaspoonful of butter, two cups boiling water; mix sugar and butter, add corn starch, lemon juice, eggs and boiling water. Boil until clear; beat the whites of eggs and put on top. Brown in the oven; serve with sweet cream.

NEW BOOKS AT UPLAND LIBRARY

Secret service, mystery, love, adventure, wild and woolly western stories, stories with the Bible as a background, and a few children's books, are among the books listed at the library to go on exhibit table today and in circulation Tuesday. "Brother Saul," a great dramatic epic of the life of Saul of Tarsus. From the synagogue to the gladiatorial pit, through one of the most tremendous epochs in human history the story moves with color and dramatic incident. "Dawn," a lost romance of the time of Christ. "A Royal Adventurer" is a true story of the French Foreign Legion, a tale of hardships borne without complaint. The mission of San Miguel, in Sonora, was the background of the tale of the "Sword and Candle."

"The American Indian" of the North, South and Central America. The author says the very name of "Indian" was bestowed upon the aborigines in error. This history covers the Indian from the time of Columbus. In "Conservation of the Family" the author states that the family is, in fact, the oldest institution in existence. So far as one can guess intelligently, it has changed surprisingly little in 500,000 years. "The Harvest of the Years" gives the life story and ripe wisdom of Luther Burbank, the famous "plant wizard" who proved for the first time that plants could be "made to order" and who by his marvelous discoveries contributed more to the happiness and well-being of the human race than almost any other man of this generation. Another dog story is the "Come-Back."

"Hawkers and Walkers in Early America" tells of strolling peddlers, preachers, lawyers, doctors, players and others, from the beginning to the Civil War. It will appeal irresistibly to all who love the picturesque in history and literature. Kennedy, Annotated list of the Wild Flowers of California. Boyd, Marching On. NEW BERRY IN CHINO DISTRICT

A new berry is being developed in Chino in connection with the experimental division of the United States bureau of agriculture. The new plants will go out to berry growers throughout California this fall.

The new development in berry culture is known as Young's dewberry and was developed first in a government experimental station. A cross between the loganberry and the dewberry, the vine is great hardiness, bears readily and requires little care, according to the reports of the growers. The quality of the fruit is said to be high, having a flavor similar to the red raspberry and with appealing qualities far superior to the latter.

Bathing beauties will vie with each other for cash prizes at the time 4th of July celebration at Corona this year.

Plumbing

As your children come to the age of construction, let them install an electric bell service, put new washers on the faucets, mend the old hose and repair old electric cords. They are learning at the same time they are employed in a useful undertaking. How many times housewives wish that they, or their husbands, could do these simple jobs about the house.

Brooms

Brooms, of one kind or another, have been in use long before the sixteenth century, when broom making in England was at its height. Many different fibres going into the make up of brooms and brushes. Bristles from the bear, pig and the wild boar; the wilder the animal, the stiffer the bristles. Soft brushes are made from the hair of the camel, goat, horse and ox. Brooms are made from fibers from the cocoa, corn, palm, millet or 'whisk' and sorghum.

Today the broom of bristle or fibre is being replaced by the mop of cotton, wool or hemp. The hardwood floor, tiled bath room and kitchen linoleum can all be wiped up with the soft mop. These mops are easily washed and several can be kept on hand for the various duties about the house. They are reasonable in price and can be had in various sizes.

SAFeway STORES GET COCOANUTS

Forty-five tons of fresh cocoanuts, consigned to the Safeway Stores of Los Angeles, arrived at Terminal Island yesterday from Colon, Panama, on the S. S. Alaska, of the Compagnie Generale Transatlantique. The cargo, totalling nearly 55,000 nuts, is the largest ever made to the Pacific coast, according to Edward Dale, vice-president and general manager of "California's Leading Grocer."

"This is the first time that cocoanuts have ever been featured here in the retail market," Mr. Dale says. "But we wanted to do something different for a change, something out of the ordinary. We thought of any number of feasible things which might stand featuring, but discarded them all one by one. It seems they had all held the spotlight before and what we wanted was something new. So we decided on cocoanuts."

"That was two months ago," Dale continued. "Antonio Gutzmer and William H. Campbell, two young importers and exporters, of Los Angeles, who were familiar with trading conditions in Panama, were called in and told what we were looking for. Before the conference was finished, contracts had been signed calling for Safeway's purchase of 45 tons of cocoanuts and stipulating specifically that they were to be of selected stock with a circumference of 14 inches or better. The standard-sized nut runs from eight to 11 inches. Gutzmer tells me that some of the nuts he obtained will show a girth of 20 inches, twice the regular size."

"The two boys left the following day for Colon where they chartered a tramp steamer and cruised down along the San Blas coast where their previous trading activities had centered. They dropped anchor at various points along the picturesque coast and communicated with the native traders who came alongside the steamer in their dug-outs. For a distance of 200 miles they traversed the eastern shoreline of Panama and when finally they reached the end of the cocoanut belt they had let out orders for a total of nearly two hundred thousand nuts, four times what their contract with Safeway specified. "But the boys knew what they were doing. Instead of relying upon the natives to furnish them with only the larger nuts, they bought them up in dug-out lots irrespective of size. All the way back to Colon the natives swarmed about the sides of the steamer, transferring their 'catches' to its decks, where Gutzmer and Campbell occupied themselves with the tedious job of sorting out the better and larger nuts for consignment to Los Angeles. After the steamer had berthed at Colon, three weeks were spent in disposing of the 150,000 standard-sized nuts to local merchants. Then the Safeway cargo, consisting of hand-picked nuts of large size, was loaded onto the Alaska, the voyage to Los Angeles consuming 12 days."

COURTS TO CHANGE DATE OF TRIAL ON ALL CASES

Third Judge Will Permit Early Hearing of Litigation—All Cases Set As Far Ahead As 1928 Will Have Hearing Soon

Opening of a third department of the superior court on Aug. 1 will necessitate a complete revision of the court calendars.

The calendars of both departments of the superior court are now jammed with cases, litigations being set for trial as far ahead as May, 1928. Attorneys having cases set for trial several months ahead have been advised by the court that they will, in all probability, be able to secure a much earlier date for the hearing of their cases than the dates now set.

When the new judge for the third department is appointed he will confer with Superior Judges Benjamin F. Warner and Charles L. Allison and new dates for cases which have already been set for trial fixed. It is expected that virtually all the cases now set for trial in 1928 will be placed on the calendar for trial this year.

The board of supervisors will order the equipping of the third department on July 1. The expense of equipping the new department is provided for in the new budget. The cost has not been determined at this time, as it is planned to use some of the fixtures that were in use in the superior court in the old courthouse.

THE PODRASNIK DINNER June 21, 1927

When the dinner's on the table, And the coffee's in the pot, And you think of chicken a sizzling.

In the gravy piping hot, And the cackle of the ladies, And the chuckling of the men, When we get the invitation To come up here again, And the Chaffey bus to take us, It is large and long and wide, All bound for Villa Alois On a merry picnic ride. The G. A. R. have to gossip And indeed, they talk a lot, When the dinner's on the table, And the coffee's in the pot.

There's something sort of home like At Podrasnik's place in June With its comely house and flowers And the mocking bird in tune, When the valley lies below it, Where great orange orchards stand.

And the mountains rise above it, So beautiful, tall and grand, But best of all is the welcome, With a hand clasp good and true That will cure a home-sick feeling, And drive away the blue. But we miss some dear old faces, And fond memories, we all know Of Grand Army and Relief corps Who met here a year ago.

There's something sort of appetizing In this clear atmosphere When we sit around the table With the mountain air right here And the trees in all their glory With the sunshine bursting through.

Telling us in faintest whispers, "Don't you eat enough for two." We will step on that good advice Put it where it never will roam, And all will do their dieting. On some other day at home, For it sets our mouths a-waterin' That plate full, with cats so hot When Podrasnik's put the feed on and the coffee's in the pot.

Yes, we like these homey dinners, Like them more than tongue can tell.

For they speak of love and friendship.

Better far than a hotel, And we like to see Old Glory On its staff so straight and tall, Waving us the old, old story, And a welcome to us all. Now, we thank our host and hostess,

For the pleasure of this day, And may all of our best wishes Follow all along your way. You have set our hearts a-clickin' Like they would never stop, With chicken pie upon the table And the coffee in the pot. MRS. MABEL ALTER, Press Correspondent W. R. C.

MILL CREEK TO BE OPENED FOR AUTO TRAFFIC

Three-Hour Controls To Be Inaugurated This Week To Big Bear—Mountain Roads In Good Condition Now

Summer motoring routes to various points in the San Bernardino mountains are reported to be nearly all in first-class condition following a week-end of heavy travel to the local hills.

Work has not been completed on the Clark's grade and Mill Creek Canyon routes to Big Bear, but the roads are passable and are in fair condition. Workmen have been spending the past several months in construction on this road, and it is just about ready to meet the heaviest of summer travel.

The control road through the upper part of Mill Creek and up Clark's grade, will be opened at the regular hours this week, according to reports from the workers. Until the present time, with the exception of Sundays and holidays, the control road has only been opened twice a day, at 5 a. m. and 5 p. m. Heavy travel obstructed the work on the road.

Three-Hour Controls Controls run each way every three hours, starting at 5 a. m. in the morning and continuing throughout the day at 8, 11, 2, 5. At those times the controls are opened for all cars going to Big Bear at the Mill Creek control. Three hours are given motorists to make each control, which is ample time for even the slowest drivers.

SHORTWEIGHT DRIVE SUCCESS

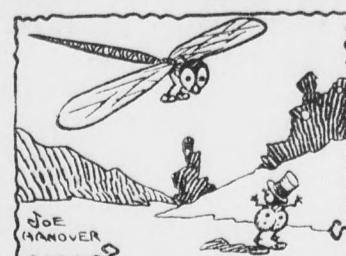

Fruit growers of San Bernardino county are co-operating with County Sealer of Weights and Measures Charles Showalter in filling boxes of berries and fruit to comply with the provisions of the state law, according to the county official.

Showalter issued an ultimatum several weeks ago, stating if local fruit growers violated the provisions of the law requiring berry boxes, when filled, to weigh 8 and 12 ounces, net, they would be subject to arrest. The first offense, however, only would result in the berries and fruit being confiscated, he stated.

Survey Reveals Conditions Since that time the county official has made a survey of the county and found that practically all of the fruit growers are co-operating with him in enforcing the weight law. Showalter stated that in a few instances he found it necessary to the growers of the provisions of the state law and the penalty to be suffered if violations were made.

Ignorance of the law is said by Showalter to have been the cause of violations in the past. Many of the growers were not informed regarding the demands of the state for the weight of filled berry boxes and did not know that a minimum weight was placed on them, he stated.

Outside Crates Seized Prior to the time local berries were placed on the market, Showalter stated that he had confiscated several crates of berries.

An advertisement for a lecture says he speaks straight from the shoulder. Too bad some of these talks can't originate a little higher up.—San Francisco News.

The Cucamonga Golden State Canneries on East 8th street are planning to open for the apricot pack about the middle of next week, it is reported, and until local cots are fully ripened, cots will be shipped in here as usual every year from Hemet.

Several crates of berries shipped in from Los Angeles and Imperial counties when they were found to be underweight. All of the berries were released to the county jail and county institutions. Since San Bernardino county fruit growers have placed their fruit and berries on the local markets, Showalter stated that he has not had occasion to confiscate a single crate.

However, a close watch will be kept on all fruit placed on local markets and strict enforcement of the state law will be demanded by the county official.

An Announcement

BEGINNING SATURDAY

July 2nd, there will be offered for sale to the general public several hundred building sites in the business district, the industrial zone and the residential section of Fontana, the community which is bound to expand rapidly into one of the important cities of Southern California's Citrus Belt.

The usual procedure was reversed in the case of Fontana city property. It has been the custom to put townsite lots at comparatively resources of this huge but only partially developed territory warrant the assertion that within a few years the business district of Fontana will be the potential trading center of a territory containing between 25,000 and 30,000 farming acres. The effect on Fontana city property may be judged from the fact that throughout the Orange Belt the value of business frontage corresponds closely to the size of the tributary irrigated area. Good business property in cities surrounded by a similar area of irrigated land now selling for eight to ten times the opening prices placed on Fontana business frontage.

Aggressive, wide-awake business men, merchants and manufacturers are invited to investigate the many openings for new enterprises of all kinds based on the buying power of the 5,000 residents of the Fontana district. Investors are invited to consider the profit opportunities presented by Fontana city property.

Information concerning Fontana, its city property, its business openings or its fruit and poultry ranches, will gladly be sent on request.

Be ready to mail your deposit or bring it in on Saturday, July 2nd. IF YOU WANT TO GET IN ON THE GROUND FLOOR, ACT TODAY.

UPLAND PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Dr. R. C. Stone, Pastor

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered at the morning service in the Upland Presbyterian Church. Members may be received at this time.

The pastor will speak at the evening service at 7:30 on the subject, "The Challenge of the Will."

Sabbath School meets at 9:45. C. E. meets in the evening at 6:30.

Prayer meeting on Wednesday evening at 7:30. Lessons from the life of Timothy will be the subject. Members are asked to bring their Bibles.

The July meeting of the Aid and Missionary Societies will be held this week on Thursday afternoon. The missionary society will meet at three o'clock in the home of Mrs. H. S. Bailey, 1122 No. Euclid avenue, across the avenue from the Chaffey grounds. After a brief business meeting they will repair to the Chaffey lawn where the Aid will hold a brief business meeting at four o'clock. The Aid invites the entire church to a social and picnic supper on the Chaffey lawn at six P. M. Every family and member is invited. All are asked to have a part in this to make it a great success.

BETHANY UNION CHURCH

Rev. George W. Irwin will be in charge of the services.

Worship service at four o'clock. Sunday school at 2:45.

The Christian Endeavor Societies will not meet this Sunday as many of the members are attending the C. E. Convention at Santa Ana.

Prayer meeting on Wednesday evening at 7:30.

UPLAND MENNONITE CHURCH

9:30 Sunday School.

10:30 Dr. J. W. Kliever.

2:30 Dr. J. E. Hartzlu.

7:30 Dr. J. E. Hartzlu.

The church is entertaining the Pacific District conference, which will be in session from Monday until Wednesday.

Sunday morning Dr. Kliever of Newton, Kansas, will preach a missionary sermon.

Sunday evening Dr. J. E. Hartzlu of Bluffton, Ohio, will deliver his famous lecture, "New Worlds for Old," which is based upon an intimate study of present conditions in Europe.

We will be glad to welcome you at any of our services.

ST. MARK'S CHURCH

Euclid Avenue and F Street

Rev. Bert Foster, D.D., Rector

Second Sunday after Trinity

St. John's Day.

Holy Communion 7:30; Sunday School, 9:30; Morning Prayer and Sermon, 11:00.

Please notice that beginning with July the hour of service will be 9:30 so as to be over before the greater heat of the day.

We were able to send forward for the Free Bed Fund as the result of our annual offering the sum of $61.00 for which we have received most gracious acknowledgments. We hope this custom of an annual offering will become a general practice in the communities served by the hospital.

The history of Hospital Sunday is very interesting as carried out in London, New York, Toronto and other places.

Our Sunday school picnic held on Wednesday this week, was the happiest we have yet had and the children enjoyed every minute of it. We thank all the friends who made it possible by their services.

GASOLINE PUMP

TESTS MADE BY

COUNTY SEALER

Service stations on the National Old Trails highway have been inspected by County Sealer of Weights and Measures Charles Showalter. The inspection trip took the county official as far east as Needles and stations were selected at random to be inspected.

It almost would be impossible to check all stations between San Bernardino and Needles on the transcontinental highway, the official said, but added that he believed a fair average had been obtained in picking stations at random along the route.

Only a few of the gasoline pumps were found to be out of adjustment, Showalter stated, and those were corrected by making a few minor changes. In the majority of instances it was found the dealer was "cheating" himself out of almost a half-pint of gasoline for every five gallons sold.

No action was taken by the county official in enforcing the state law regarding the dispensing of gasoline, as he states the pumps may get out of adjustment at any time and only a close watch of them will be effective in preventing any change in the amount of gasoline sold.

Heavy Summer Travel

Showalter made the inspection trip, he stated, due to the heavy summer tourist travel coming into California over the National Old Trails highway. Scores of machines from the east and middle west are arriving in Southern California every day over this transcontinental road, he stated.

To protect the interests of the county as well as the motorists, Showalter stated that he checked the stations during the beginning of the summer rush.

Service stations in other parts of the county, especially on the Los Angeles boulevards, will be subject to inspection by Showalter within the next few weeks, he announced.

RANGER CLAIMS

MAN RECKLESS

A charge of reckless driving on the San Antonio Canyon road was filed against Owen R. Ferguson, of Venice, by Ranger G. O. Dark.

It is claimed that Ferguson drove his car at a very reckless speed down the narrow highway, narrowly missing the ranger. He will appear for a hearing in Judge Crane's court next Wednesday.

IN THE SHADOW

George McEndree, 76 years of age, died at the County Hospital at San Bernardino, Tuesday evening. He came to Upland from Missouri about 17 years ago, and until a short time ago lived on East Ninth street. He had been in failing health for many months. His wife, Susan A. McEndree, died in 1910.

The funeral services were held at Draper's undertaking parlors yesterday afternoon and the interment was in Bellevue cemetery.

The pallbearers were Robt. Silcox, Bert Pershbacher, L. E. Woodruff, J. F. Anderson, I. J. Linkey and J. V. Benson. Rev. L. Z. Farmer preached the funeral sermon.
